

1:30 PM – 3:30 PM	Ethics for Victim Service Providers - Doug Graves Objectives for this session will; <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Explore Common Ethical Dilemmas for Victim Service Providers• Discuss Ethical Principles Common to All Professional Organizations• Determine Common Values of Victim Service Providers• Examine The National Victim Assistance Standards Consortium (NVASC) Ethical Standards• Explore Various Ethical Decision Making Models• Review the Proposed Idaho Code of Professional Ethics for Victim Service Providers
-------------------	--

Doug Graves

Doug Graves has 28 years of Public Safety experience. During this time he has worked a variety of assignments including patrol, narcotics, criminal investigation, juvenile, training and administration. Graves retired from the Idaho State Police in 2007 at the rank of Lieutenant and served as the Deputy Director of the Idaho Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST) Academy. Graves holds a Bachelor's Degree in Social Science and is a graduate of the Northwestern University School of Public Safety, School of Police Staff and Command and the FBI National Academy. He is the co-author of Prepared Not Paranoid: Lesson's from Law Enforcement for Living Every Day Safely, published June 2008 by Praeger Press. Currently, Graves is the director of Law Enforcement Training and Resources (LETR). A private consulting/training agency. Graves continues to train in ethics, domestic violence, elder abuse and leadership.